

NYU MPH Public Health Practice Resources

» Resources for identifying fieldwork, internship, practicum, job, fellowship, volunteer, career, and professional development opportunities at New York University

NYU Master of Public Health: www.nyu.edu/public-health-practice.html

NYU MPH Public Health CareerLink will be launched in Fall 2011. It will provide an online database of job, internship, practicum, fellowship, academic, and volunteer postings in the field of public health. It will also house profiles of employers in bi/multilateral agencies, community-based organizations, government, non-profit organizations, private sector companies, and research institutes around the world as well as offer access to a pool of MPH alumni and professional mentors working in public health. Stay tuned. Until this directory is available, all opportunities will be sent out over the listserv.

Global Health Career Network

The Global Health Council is excited to announce the launch of the Global Health Career Center Network, our new and expanded employment website. This upgraded online recruitment service includes new features for both individuals and organizations to facilitate career connections in the global health community.

To create your online account, visit <http://careers.globalhealth.org/>.

The all-new career center gives you targeted exposure to qualified global health professionals that you cannot find anywhere else. And it is available in a robust, feature-rich, online resource that includes:

- Free resume access – Search the resume database free for as long as your job is active.
- Resume search agents – Receive automatic email notification whenever job seekers match your search criteria.
- Easy online job tracking – Your online account will include reports that show you at a glance how effective your ad is.
- Volume discounts – Save money with multiple-job posting packages, where you can purchase up to 10 postings and take up to one year to use them all.

Most importantly, the Global Health Career Center Network helps you recruit only the global health professionals with the qualifications you are looking for. Don't miss this unique opportunity to be seen by an exclusive audience of the field's best and brightest.
